Mayor Whittlesey Appoints Carmel's City Commissioners

Carmel has a new mayor, Eben Whittlesey. He was unanimously elected by members of the new city council when they convened for the first time Tuesday night.

Francis Whitaker was unanimously elected vice mayor.

Mayor Whittlesey's first action was to appoint city commissioners. He named councilmen to act for the next two years in the following capacities: police commissioner, James C. Buffington, Jr.; street commissioner, Herbert B. Blanks; fire commissioner, Frank Putnam; health commissioner, Francis Whitaker. The mayor is finance commissioner.

Standing committee appointments made next by Mayor Whittlesey were: lands and improvements, Blanks and Buffington; administration, Whitaker and Whittlesey; public welfare Whitaker and Putnam; auditing, Putnam and Buffington.

The mayor then adjourned Tuesday night's meeting until a May 2 special meeting, 7:45 o'clock in the evening, when the council will examine matters before the separate committees, assess the general character of problems before the council and determine what matters shall be reassigned to the various committees.

Before the new council convened, Councilman Buffington and Blanks were sworn into office by City Clerk L. D. Rose. This followed the canvassing by the old council of the April 10 election in which Buffington and Blanks won council seats. Councilmen John Chitwood and Gunnar Norberg stepped down from the council dais leaving their seats for the new councilmen after the canvas.

Mayor Whittlesey, an attorney, came to Carmel in 1942. He has been an associate of Shelburn Robison in the practice of law since that time. He is married to the former Mary Bigland, Carmel resident since 1926. They have one

Highlands Sounds Co-Op Apartment Alert For Battle

En masse, in a chartered bus, militant Carmel Highlands residents plan to go to Salinas Tuesday morning to fight before the county planning commission against plans for a ten-unit co-operative apartment development on cliffs west of Highway One below Highlands Inn.

The defensive action was proposed last night at a special meeting of the Carmel Highlands Association when 50 members unanimously voted to go on record as "violently opposed" to the development "violating the scenic beauty of Highway One."

Carmel police reported a relatively orderly Easter week here. In a series of incidents extending over the five days so far, 14 juveniles were picked up, mostly in connection with possession of beer.

Chief Klaumann said in nearly all cases parents were notified, and the youngsters released in their custody.

Most of those arrested were from out of Monterey County, from Piedmont, Atherton, and Berkeley, among other places.

Elmer Booth showed around a clutch of pictures of San Francisco right after the earthquake at the Fire Watch luncheon yesterday, when someone at his table noted that in a picture of San Francisco "refugees" seated on a littered sidewalk on their trunks and boxes, all the men were neatly tailored and every one wore a bowler hat, all the women were fashionably

They also unanimously adopted a motion, proposed by Francis Heisler, that the association petition the Monterey County Board of Supervisors to rezone three adjacent lots, on one of which the co-operative apartment development is planned, from present R-4-D (multiple dwelling with design control) zoning into R-1 (single residence) or O (open space) zoning. The existing R-4-D classification of the land in question permits multiple dwellings with a density control of one unit per 1,000 square feet of site.

This morning Lewis L. Fenton, Monterey attorney, stated that in December, 1960, he bought from Anne Bosworth the .64-acre lot proposed for the apartment development. He has entered into an agreement to sell the land to the Roberts Development Company of Eureka, and the sale is now in es-

Fortunately For Carmel, Battleship Mississippi Let John Chitwood Land

BY RAYLYN PENNEY

On Independence Day, 1926, the battleship Mississippi dropped anchor off Monterey, setting off a series of human events which resulted eventually in some lasting good fortune for Carmel.

For among the young Naval officers who spilled off the Mississippi for shore leave that day, to mingle with Peninsula residents during a particularly festive July 4 celebration, was Ensign John S. Chitwood.

Summing up his impressions of that fateful visit, John Chitwood says, "The weather was beautiful, and we were young."

However, this story is not quite so simple as all that. To make it sufficiently complicated, it should be added here that Ensign John Chitwood, back at Annapolis, had had a roommate who knew a girl from Carmel named Louise Prince, daughter of one of Carmel's founding fathers.

Louise in turn had a friend, Frances Pryor, daughter of one of Pacific Grove's best remembered mayors. And at the Pryor home soon after the Mississippi arrived, there was a party to which Ensign Chitwood was invited.

At the Pryor party, Chitwood met another Carmel girl, Jean Taylor. Two years and many visits and letters later, Jean and John were married, and in the years of varied Naval assignments which followed, they considered Carmel their home even though John had yet to live in Carmel permanently.

That was to come in 1946, with the retirement from the Navy of Commander Chitwood after duty on the West Coast, in Hong Kong and Canton, on the South China Patrol and finally World War II years spent in the office of the Chief of Naval Operations, admin-

Easter In Carmel Churches . . .

Easter observances in Carmel churches start today with Maundy Thursday services. Tomorrow there will be solemn Good Friday rites followed by Holy Saturday ceremonies. Easter Sunday worship will include special music in most of the churches.

Following is an account of Easter rituals in Carmel Mission Basilica, All Saints' Episcopal Church, the Church of the Wayfarer and the Carmel Presbyterian Church.

Carmel Mission Basilica

This evening Holy Thursday observance will start at 6:00 o'clock with celebration of the Solemn Mass of the Lord's Supper. A new ritual will be included this year, the Washing of Feet, observing Christ's washing of the feet of the 12 apostles. Father Roger Dieudonne, celebrant, will perform these rites for 12 men parishioners. All but three of these men have a son either ordained or studying for the priesthood, or a daughter in holy orders. They are Orville Jones, George Yohman, Frank Bray, Ed Soberanes, Colonel Robert E. Osborne, Kenneth White, Robert Emmett O'Brien, Emilio Odello, Walter Beardsley, Jose Diaz, Harry Downie, and Robert Lawson.

A Procession to Repository will follow. At this time the sacraments will be carried to the Holy Sacra-

Planners Initiate C-1-L Zoning For Six Motel, Hotel Sites

Sitting as a board of adjustments yesterday afternoon, Carmel planning commissioners held public hearings on rezoning four parcels of business district land into the new restricted C-1-L (motel, hotels, apartments) zone; the subdivision of the William Crawford dune property at the north end of Carmel Beach into four building sites; the division of two lots in the Eighty Acres; and a site size variance for Carol A. Ferguson.

They adopted a motion authorizing the city attorney to prepare an ordinance reclassifying the sites of La Playa Hotel, Village Inn, Torres Inn, Pine Terrace, Hofsas House, and Svengaard's Lodge into the C-

The Fire Destroyed San Francisco In 1906, Not The Earthquake, Agreed Fire Watch Yarn Tellers Yesterday

To a man (and woman), the yarn swappers at the second annual meeting of the Monterey County Fire Watch agreed Wednesday that there's nothing at all to the rumor that San Francisco was destroyed by an earthquake on April 18, 1906. It was the fire, they said, that did it.

Comparing stories and souvenirs on the anniversary of the great San Francisco fire this year were 36 people who met for lunch at La Playa, a smaller crowd than that which attended last year's initial meeting, but as Senator Ed Tickle explained, "we had Easter to compete with this time."

Proceeding on his own theory that "if you went through that fire, you have a story," the ex-senator himself, organizer and prime mover of the year-old local watch group, helped lead off the program by telling how he as a young man in 1906 set off dynamite ahead of the blaze to help control the flames, once left his cache of dynamite at Jackson and Montgomery streets and came back to find a stranger sitting on top of it, calmly smoking a clay pipe. The stranger vanished in a cloud of dust when told the boxes contained explosives.

One of the other watch regulars, Dr. Shirley Houghton of Pebble Beach, acting as master of ceremonies for Wednesday's luncheon, reviewed the story of how the original watch society, the Late Watch of San Francisco, organized by a group of newspapermen, had started meeting at the Union League Club years ago, and has

Concours d'Elegance Saturday To Benefit Community Hospital

Well over 100 entries have been received for the 12th annual Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance to be held Saturday from 11:00 o'clock in the morning until 4:00 in the afternoon on the lawn between Del Monte Lodge and the 18th hole of Pebble Beach golf links.

A panel of 18 judges will handle the large entry this year in 18 classes. They will include Lucius Beebe, noted columnist and bon vivant and Peter De Paolo, twice national AAA auto racing champion.

Still other judges include Charles G. Anderson, Los Angeles, owner of several early American cars and restorer of British automobiles as well as early American models; Overton A. Phillips of South San Gabriel, an outstanding authority on Bugattis (president of the American Bugatti Club) and a restorer of classic cars; Jack B. Nethercutt, Los Angeles, one of the country's noted collectors and restorers.

MERCHANT NINE CLIPS HOLLISTER

Paul Artellan's Carmel Merchant softball club took on a couple of tough opponents during the past week, dropping a 3-1 decision to the strong Colonial Gardens team from Salinas and winning a 2-1 decision over the Hollister Outdoorsmen. In the winning effort against Hollister, Carmel's ace pitcher, Gene Zinnani, bested Hollister's brilliant Don Slibarger in a fine pitching duel. Burly Fritz Lembach, Merchant third-baseman, clubbed a triple and two singles to lead the Carmel batting attack, while shortstop Nino Aiello and first-sacker Jim McGaughey starred in the field.

The Colonial Gardens aggregation continued its dominance over the Merchants, beating them for the second time this season. Ex-Merchant star, John Souza, now playing for Colonial Gardens, was the big factor in the Salinas win. The classy fielder came up with three sensational plays which served to wipe out the threatening Merchant rallies. Paul Ricketson swung the big stick for Artellan's gang in the Garden loss, hitting the longest homer ever recorded at the Salinas softball park. Gene Zinnani received for the loss against Salinas, with Dick Tuttle, Salinas High junior-varsity baseball coach, pitching the win for the Gardens.

Tomorrow night at 8:00 o'clock, the Merchants travel to Monterey's Jacks Park for a practice joust with the strong A & Z Sports of Seaside. The Sports are the current softball champs of the area, winning the Peninsula championship last year, and have been knocking over all opposition so far this season. Wednesday, April 25, the Merchants will entertain Fort Ord Service Company in an 8:00 o'clock game at Carmel's Sunset Field.

PADRE NINE HOSTS PACIFIC GROVE NEXT TUESDAY

Coach Jim LeBeck brings his high-flying Pacific Grove baseball team to Carmel next Tuesday afternoon for a league game with Coach Hadley Hicks's cellar-dwelling Padres. The Breakers, 1961 CCAL B-division champions, are currently resting in second place in the B-division chase, but the defending champs are given a good chance to pick up all the chips before the season is finished. Big Bob Roberts, a fireballing right-hander with a cracking curve, is the ace of the Pacific Grove mound staff and has racked up all the wins for the Breakers this season. However, the PG nine is a well-balanced ball club with veterans in all positions. A brilliant fielding team with mediocre batting strength, the Breakers rely on the bunt and excellent base-running to wear down the opposition.

Carmel's inexperienced club has had a tough time getting started this season, dropping their first eleven games to the more experienced prep teams in the area. However, the Padres have shown improvement in recent outings and could give the Breakers an interesting tussle if their hitting improves as much as the fielding and pitching. With the return of Jim Brown and Bob Holmes, the Red and Gray nine has a solid pitching staff to meet the two-game-a-week schedule.

During the Easter vacation period, the Padres dropped over to the Gonzales Tournament for games with Live Oak and the Santa Cruz junior-varsity. Live Oak clipped the Carmel lads, 11 to 0, in the tournament opener, while the Cardinal players edged the locals 3-2.

Carmel's junior-varsity continued its winning ways at Gonzales last Friday, whipping the Little Spartans, 5 to 3, on the strength of some fine pitching by Chris Marvin and Jerry Huff, plus the power hitting of Larry Sheingold and Mike Brasher. Sheingold rapped out a perfect 3-for-3, while Brasher collected two blows in three official trips to the plate. Next action for the junior-varsity is slated for Friday, April 27, at King City.

JOHN SCOTT'S PIGEONS WIN

A Carmel Valley pigeon won the third race of the season for the Carmel-Monterey-Seaside Racing Pigeon Club, flown from Sparks, Nevada, on Sunday morning. Birds were released at 6:00 o'clock. The weather was clear, calm and cold; the distance, 225 air miles. Following are the results in yards per minute:

J. Scott, Carmel Valley, 1083.626; J. Scott, Carmel Valley, 1077.475; M. Hanssens, Carmel Valley, 1071.640; E. Barry, Jr., Monterey, 1068.698; E. Anderson, Del Rey Oaks, Monterey, 1062.937; J. Barbier, Salinas, 1045.420; H. Heavey, Carmel, 1030.552; R. Mack & Son, Salinas, 1024.778; G. Artellan, Carmel Highlands, 1018.640; H. Jones, Seaside, 999.273; H. Schumaker, Carmel Valley, 999.226; G. Yates & Son, Pebble Beach, 993.834; G. Sykes & Son, Salinas, 983.706; D. Schumaker, Pebble Beach, 965.226; L. Richards, Marina, no report; E. Jones, Marina, no report.

The next race will be flown from Fernley, Nevada, Sunday, April 22.

With tryout sessions completed and managers confident they have just the right material to cop the 1962 pennant, the Carmel Little League rosters were filled at last Monday's auction, and the teams are set to roll on the May 5 opening day. The three tryouts uncovered plenty of gems for the wily mentors, and the current season shapes up as one of the best in the history of Carmel Little League. All managers are planning extensive practice sessions during the next two weeks, with most of the action centered at the high school diamonds.

P. A. Macs (P. A. & Lew McCreery's Insurance Agency) was the most prolific bidder at Monday's auction, filling eight vacancies occasioned by the loss of 12-year-olds last season. The Macs team takes over for the San Carlos Realty Champions and will be guided by veteran manager Lee McGuckin. Like a host of players, McGuckin is coming to the Major League after several seasons in the Farm League system and he brings a wealth of valuable experience to the insurance nine.

The complete 1962 Little League roster:

Salome Johonnot

Mrs. Salome H. Johonnot died at her Carmel home last Thursday at the age of 79.

The wife of the late Ralph Johonnot, Carmel artist and architect who designed several houses on the Peninsula, Mrs. Johonnot had lived in Carmel for the past 17 years, and had been a Peninsula resident for many years more. She was born in Baltimore, Maryland, on December 20, 1883.

Mrs. Johonnot was an artist in her own right, specializing in embroidery. Mr. Johonnot, who taught for a while at Pratt Institute in Brooklyn, had developed originality in color and design and had published several booklets on the subject.

Together, Mr. and Mrs. Johonnot conducted art classes throughout the United States from Hawaii to Nantucket, including Carmel. These classes were of special interest to teachers and artists.

Mrs. Johonnot was a member of the Carmel Democratic Women's Club, the Citizens' League, the Christian Science Church in Carmel, and the Carmel Foundation.

Survivors include a son, Ralph H. Johonnot, Jr., of Burbank; three sisters, Mrs. James Evans of Wellesley Hills, Massachusetts, Mrs. W. W. Woodruff of Chattanooga, Tennessee, and Mrs. Margaret Hamilton, of Washington, D.C.; a brother, Daniel C. Hopper of Massachusetts, and two grandchildren, Kathleen and Ralph H. Johonnot III, of Burbank.

Private funeral services were held with the Paul Mortuary in charge.

From South America arrive plans for a proposed Lake of the Flamingos National Park in Peru. The material is in scholarly style. It credits the U.S.A. with the original concept. It lists other noted national parks: Transvaal's Kruger, Baminge in French Africa, Belgian Congo's Prince Albert. It emphasizes that Japan now has a chain of 27. It reminds Peruvians they trail the Argentine herein.

All Latin American national parks help North American conservationists. This, because many of our birds migrate to Peru. One is the olive-sided flycatcher. Others go as far as Paraguay.

Fortunately For Carmel, Battleship Mississippi Let John Chitwood Lag

istrative division, in Washington, D. C.

"I was mainly impressed with Carmel at first because of its obvious differences from small towns in Missouri," Chitwood, who was born in Carthage, Missouri, says. "I liked the geography, the way the houses were built and the people who lived in them."

After 1946, as a Carmelite himself, Chitwood was exposed to another view of the town. Jean, whose father, the late Peter Taylor, was a member of Carmel's first city council, was always taking her husband along with her to council meetings in which she — and the rest of the town for that matter — was intensely interested.

"Then one day Charlie Childers, who was on the council, asked me if I would like to run for council," Chitwood says. "I said no, that it was the last thing I would be qualified for or know anything about. The next thing I knew several people had endorsed my candidacy for the council, and I had been catapulted into running for office."

The 12 succeeding years of service by Chitwood to his adopted home town have proved his early, hasty assessment of his own talents to have been wrong. He has served as finance commissioner, health and safety commissioner and police commissioner. From 1957 to 1960, he served as mayor of Carmel.

Each of the three times he ran for office, he piled up more votes than the previous time. And that he has been one of the most popular councilmen who ever sat in city hall was underscored during his recent final council meeting when fellow councilmen had a surprise party in his honor and passed a resolution pointing up the fact that Chitwood had earned "the confidence and affection of his fellow citizens" and "during his incumbency had served the city with a spirit of dedication, dignity, tolerance, ability and above all with a sense of fair play."

The words are far from being mere blandishments. Time and again it has happened that people who most violently opposed Chitwood's views and council actions, still had immense personal liking for the man himself.

To even the casual council watcher, Chitwood has emerged as a person completely without self-righteousness. Having lived with the human race quite a few years, he is shock-proof, a good thing in a councilman, even in Carmel, and though he has had to judge situations in the performance of official duties, he has refrained from judging people. And he is a good listener. During his term as mayor, he heard every speaker out, even though the speeches grew tedious to others.

This does not mean, however, that he agreed with everyone he heard. Sometimes his stands against the opinions of others were sharp and uncompromising. Once, during an impasse of views at a council meeting, Chitwood offered to resign, and walked out. Almost everyone in Carmel seemed to feel terrible about this, including John Chitwood, who returned to the next meeting with his views as firm as ever, and his opponents' views as firm as ever, but with everyone breathing easier.

In the blackberry-patch tangle of Carmel problems over the dozen years, Chitwood has been neither radical nor reactionary. When this statement was checked with him for veracity, he said he'd heard this before but, actually he didn't really know what his own thought trend had been since he had tried to approach issues one at a time, treating each as if it were entirely new and separate from all others.

"When I came onto the council, Carmel was undergoing its first big expansion after the war. My orientation was along lines of the Fred Godwin - Allen Knight - Don Craig council, which believed that simplicity of government was essential for Carmel. I still regard this former council with great respect. The thinking of these men has dominated my own thought and actions.

"But these actions and thoughts of mine were tempered by the new knowledge that Carmel was growing and had to meet the challenge. While I've always been against any action taken for the sake of making Carmel modern or streamlined, I have always been for use of the things that would solve certain problems without compromising our individuality.

"Parking meters are an example. Some people are against them because they are a symbol of modern times. But I am willing to see them used here, believing that their symbolism would have a changed meaning in Carmel, and that their existence as an import from the streamlined world would go unnoticed after a few weeks of use.

"It's somewhat my position on the trees. I like trees in Carmel, but I've never thought we should pass up the chance to acquire a healthy young tree in order to hang onto a diseased old one.

"There are other things I've taken strong positions on, support for the Carmel Youth Center — I remember all too well the problems we had before we had the center — and a retirement system for our city employees. But the thing I'm probably proudest of is the way we solved the drainage problem over the years. It wasn't a spectacular thing, not like tree and parking meter arguments. But little by little over the years we corrected the drainage on Carmel streets. The last part of it was finished with the recent project on Ocean Avenue.

"At one time I was so strong for this project that they called me 'Drainage John.' Finally solving this is a lasting satisfaction, though.

"As I look around the city now, I'm convinced our councils have done a remarkable job for the people in keeping their community distinct, its character and mode of life intact. And I can see no reason the town shouldn't continue in this spirit for many more years to come.

"Certainly when you have more people you have more problems. I suppose when the community grows so large that women are no longer safe on the streets, then we'll have to light our streets. But when this comes it could be done with indirect lighting in the middle of the block or some other method which would avoid the customary poles with blazing lights. Like parking meters, it isn't so much what is used but how it is used to fit into the Carmel concept that makes the town what it is, and what it will be."

Another not-so-minor point about Councilman Chitwood's long community service has also been his frugality with city funds. A characteristic of popular Carmel councilmen is the belief in spending no money that isn't necessary.

"When I first went on the council, we had an extremely small budget," Chitwood remembers. "There weren't any such things as expense accounts for councilmen. We paid our own way everywhere. And at the end of the council meetings, Peter Mawdsley (the city clerk) used to jump up and gather up all the pencils so we wouldn't absent-mindedly carry them off in our pockets."

Among John Chitwood's other interests in Carmel over the years have been the Kiwanis Club, of which he is a past president, the Monterey Council of the Navy League, of which he is a past vice

Dr. Vaughn

Dr. Clarence Kean Vaughn died Monday morning in Carmel at the age of 87. He had been a Carmel resident since 1955, when he retired after 57 years as a practicing physician in Leavenworth, Kansas.

Survivors are the son with whom Dr. Vaughn made his home, Colonel George W. Vaughn (USA ret.) of Guadalupe Street between Pico and Serra; another son, Clarence K. Vaughn, Jr., of Detroit; two grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

A native of Leavenworth, where he was born July 7, 1875, Dr. Vaughn was preceded in death by his wife, Mrs. Maud Vaughn, prior to his coming to Carmel.

An honorary member of the Medical Association of Kansas and member of the alumni society of the University of Virginia, he was a graduate of Memphis Hospital Medical College which is now part of Vanderbilt University.

Final rites were held today before noon in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea with the Reverend David Hill of All Saints' Episcopal Church of Carmel officiating. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Easter In Carmel Churches . . .

ment Chapel where Adoration will continue until midnight.

Good Friday observances at the Basilica start at 1:00 o'clock in the afternoon with the Prophecies. The Passion according to St. John will be read next by John Kimbark, James Lang, and Commander Edward Snopkowski, parishioners. This will be followed by Holy Communion at 1:45 o'clock, then the Stations of the Cross and the Removal of the Body of Christ from the Crucifix and the procession to the Mortuary Chapel where Veneration of the Body of Christ will end the ceremonies.

The removal ritual consists of taking off the Lenten purple veiling from the life-size crucifix above the Basilica altar, removing the nails from the Body of Christ, placing the body on a bier and carrying it in procession to the side chapel of the Basilica used as a mortuary chapel for Mission Indians by Father Junipero Serra who founded Carmel Mission in 1770. This ceremony is performed by men parishioners clothed in black cassocks.

The Easter Vigil Service at the Basilica on Holy Saturday starts at 11:00 o'clock in the evening. It will include Blessing of New Fire, Blessing of the Paschal Candle, the Lessons, Blessing of Baptismal Water, Blessing of Catechumens, Renewal of Baptismal Vows and Solemn Midnight Mass. A boys' choir, composed of seminarians in this area who attend St. John's College in Camarillo, will sing.

Father Dieudonne will be the celebrant at the Good Friday and Holy Saturday masses. His deacon will be the Reverend Edward McTighe S.J.

Easter Sunday at the Basilica, Mass will be celebrated at 7:00, 8:00, 9:00, 10:00, 11:00 and 12:15 o'clock with the Most Reverend Harry A. Clinch, Auxiliary Bishop of the Monterey-Fresno Diocese, celebrant at the first two. Bishop Clinch will give the first three masses and will be in Fresno for St. John's Cathedral Easter ceremonies prior to this.

All Saints' Episcopal Church

The second Maundy Thursday celebration at All Saints' Episcopal Church will be this evening at 8:00 o'clock. It will be a Commemoration of Institution of the Holy Communion.

Good Friday observances begin tomorrow morning at All Saints' at 10:00 o'clock with a Children's Meditation service conducted by the Reverend Peter Farmer.

From noon until 3:00 o'clock will be The Three Hours worship. The guest preacher will be the Reverend J. Thomas Lewis, rector of St. Paul's Church, Salinas, who will exchange pulpits with the Reverend David Hill, rector of All Saints'.

At 8:00 o'clock Good Friday evening there will be a performance of Gabriel Faure's setting of the Requiem. John Gosling, conductor of the Monterey County Symphony, will lead the orchestra and choirs. Soloists will be John Farr and Sally Weltz.

At 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon on Saturday, Easter Eve, there will be the ceremonies of Baptism, Lighting of the Paschal Candle, and Evensong. The children's choir will sing on this occasion. Following the service the annual All Saints' Children's Easter Party will take place.

On Easter Day there will be services at 7:00, 8:00, 9:30 and 11:00 o'clock in the morning. The Men-Boys Choir will sing at the 9:30 service; the Girls' Senior Choir at 11:00 o'clock.

All Saints' Parish clergy will be assisted on Easter Sunday by the former rector of Holy Trinity Church in Menlo Park, the Reverend Eric Jackson.

Church of the Wayfarer

Dr. K. Fillmore Gray, pastor of the Church of the Wayfarer, will conduct a Maundy Thursday communion service this evening at 8:00 o'clock preceded by Evensong during which hymns appropriate to this part of the day will be sung. These will include: Softly Now the Light of Day; Now the Day is Over; Sun of My Soul; The Day Thou Gavest, Lord, Is Ended; All Praise to Thee, My Lord; Day is Dying in the West; and God Madest Earth and Heaven.

Tomorrow afternoon an original chancel drama by Dr. Fred L. Farley will be presented at 2:00 o'clock as the principal part of the Good Friday observances at the Church of the Wayfarer. The drama, Enriching the Chancel, will be directed by Curtis Cureton. The cast will include Dr. Zoltan Vasvary, Mrs. F. Henry Venn, Lieutenant Thomas J. Keene, Mrs. Victor H. Davis, and Dr. Farley.

Three services are scheduled for Easter Sunday morning. The first will be at 8:00 o'clock followed by others at 9:30 and 11:00. At the first service, the Chapel Singers directed by John Farr will sing O Make Our Hearts To Blossom by Clokey and the Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's Messiah. At the two later services these singers will be joined by the Children's Choir and Bell Choir for the Easter Bell Carol by Pfautsch with Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Cater directing.

Dr. Gray will conduct the services and preach on the theme, In The Morning. Organ selections to be played by Connell K. Carruth will include: Bach's Christ Lay in the Bonds of Death; Easter Dawn by Claussman; Lemare's The Thrush; Christ Triumphant by Yon; Edmundson's Now Woods and Fields Are Sleeping; and Easter Alleluia by Otten-Walder.

At 9:30 o'clock Easter Sunday morning, Church School students (grades 1 through 6) will have an Easter program in Fellowship Hall under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Victor H. Davis. Nicky Concolino, Eric Lee, Raylene Riddle and Jim Schaeffler will take part in the story of events leading up to the first Easter. They are all members of the junior department. The Chapel Singers, Children's Choir and Bell Choir will participate.

The Church of the Wayfarer's youth group, the C-Bees, have invited other youth groups of the Peninsula Council of Churches to join them at an Easter Sunrise Service. The young people will meet at the church at 4:50 o'clock. Participating in the worship service will be Dick Thomas, Bob Reynolds, Gigi Green, Katie Reynolds, Karen Walker, and Chick Hoffman.

Carmel Presbyterian Church

On Good Friday there will be a service of music and meditation in the sanctuary of the Carmel Presbyterian Church from 2:00 - 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

This service is for those who may wish to gather together to remember the crucifixion. Dr. Joseph M. Ewing, minister of the Carmel Presbyterian Church, will be assisted by Chaplain G. L. Markle. Karen Steinke, mezzo-soprano, will sing O All Ye Who Travel by Dubois and a spiritual, The Crucifixion. The organist, Fred Lewis, will play Lamb of God by Pachelbel, When On the Cross and O Sacred Head, by Bach and Prayer by Armstrong.

The church will be open before and after the service for quiet meditation.

At both the 9:30 and 11:00 o'clock services at the Carmel Presbyterian Church, Dr. Ewing will preach on the theme, What We See in Easter, on Easter Sunday morning.

Organ selections to be played by Mr. Lewis will be: Festival Prelude on "Victory" by Lang; Pilgrims' Song of Hope by Batiste; An Easter Flower by Morrell, all preludes. The offertory selection will be Christ Is Arisen by Fischer; the postlude, Fantasy on the Easter Hymn by Harris.

Karen Steinke will sing To Sleep, To Wake by Hascal Stewart of Carmel and Alleluia by Mozart at crow. He added that the Eureka company may withdraw from the sale subject to a substantial penalty under several specific conditions, one of which is inability to obtain a building permit for the co-operative apartments.

Carmel architect Olof Dahlstrand, retained by the development company to design the apartments, says he understands that the Roberts company has an option to buy the southerly adjoining lot, owned by Henry T. Holsman of Santa Barbara. The third lot, north of the Fenton land, proposed for rezoning, is owned by Paul Reed of Carmel Highlands who through his representative, Virginia Neilson, informed members of the Highlands Association last night that he is agreeable to having his R-4-D land rezoned into the open space classification, if the other two R-4-D lots are similarly rezoned.

Plans submitted to the county planning commission by Mr. Dahlstrand are for a luxury ten-unit cooperative apartment building, with wings, on four levels. The roof of the highest level only will be visible from the highway. Roofing material will be sheet steel with a tin plate finish painted grey-green to blend with the landscape.

Units will vary in size from one-bedroom to three-bedroom. A parking deck for 16 cars will be situated, one-story height, below the roadway. One apartment and utility and storage rooms will be under the deck. The structure will be built close to the hillside so that it will not be visible from the highway and the view of the development from Point Lobos is considered in the plans. The plans were submitted to the Carmel Highlands advisory committee to the county planning commission. Last night, Will Shaw told association members that he and other members of the committee (Dr. R. A. Kocher, Dr. H. J. Templeton, Hal Boyd, Norman Godbee, Ralph Atkinson and Robert Holland) had met several times to consider the cooperative apartment plans. Their unanimous decision was that the development was detrimental to the Highlands and each committee member was submitting an individual letter to the commission stating his own views against the matter.

He quoted a passage from Dr. Kocher's letter which stated that the original intention of zoning, in the 1930's, of the Highlands Inn property, of which the three lots in question were at that time part, was to prevent man-made structures on the ocean-side cliffs below the inn; that the lots since have been sold and the proposed apartment use is "a desecration of the rarefied scenic beauty" of the Highlands community of quiet homes.

He ended by declaring, that if Highlands residents came up with ideas for preserving the area before development was planned, "We wouldn't be here fighting a defensive battle."

Francis Heisler reminded members that eight years ago the association had adopted a motion asking the county supervisors to rezone R-4-D lots in the Highlands to single family use. He added that a proposed motel on the Holsman land had been refused by the county planning commission on the grounds that access from the highway was dangerous.

Supervisor Tom Hudson, present at the meeting, said, to his knowledge, the rezoning request had never been submitted to the board of supervisors.

Robert Durney, owner of property bordering the rocky cove below the planned apartment project, said he was "one of the sorriest" members of the group at the meeting in the Highlands fire house last night. He has access to his property over a private road below the apartment site and stated that he would allow no construction traffic to pass over this thoroughfare. He offered to charter a private bus to take protestants against the apartments to Salinas on Tuesday morning.

Mrs. D. L. James recommended that his offer be accepted. Highlands Association president John McDaniel accepted the offer, and the bus will leave the Highlands fire house at 8:30 o'clock in the morning. Members were also asked to support the 50 protestants in the bus by offering rides in private cars to other Highlands (Continued on Page Fifteen) president, and the American Legion.

The Chitwoods' son, John Chitwood, Jr., who attended Carmel schools, is now on the staff of an electronics firm in Los Angeles.

Completing the family at their Carmel home, which is at Monte Verde and Fifth, is Mrs. Chitwood's mother, Mrs. Peter Taylor.

"No," the councilman emeritus answered a final question about his community service, "much as I have liked serving on the council, it hasn't been the best job I ever had." Nor was service with the United States Navy apparently, for which Chitwood left his Missouri home at the age of 17, graduating from the Naval Academy in 1925.

"The best job I ever had, or at least the one I was happiest with, was a position I held in Carthage at the age of about 11 or so.

"I was a cowherd then. I had about 13 cows belonging to families in Carthage to drive out to the fields in the morning and take back to the barns in the evening. The reason I liked it so much was that every one of those cows knew when it was time to go out in the morning and come home in the evening. Each one knew which barn she lived in and the barns were all along the same alley and easy to get to. They never had an unpredictable thought or any frustrations. They knew who was boss and they didn't object. They were always ready to go in the morning and they were always lined up at the gate ready when it was time to come home."

Evidently they were not like Carmelites, those cows, since they were not individualists, but even though the ex-councilman didn't dwell on this story with any seriousness, still those cows must have taught John Chitwood a lot about orderly thought and planning, and there is always satisfaction in that.

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

Easter brings interesting musical events. The first took place at Santa Catalina School last Sunday evening, a most commendable performance of Pergolesi's Stabat Mater sung by a choir of 60 girls accompanied by a string quartet (Marilyn Fitzgerald and Sharon Jones, violinists; Helen Shutes, viola; Mary Dobel, cello, also Dorothy Heer, organist.) Considered in Italy today as "the Raphael of Music," Pergolesi in his short life of 26 years tried many forms, finally devoting himself to church music. The Stabat Mater was practically his last composition and is his best known work which he was requested to write for ten ducats (about $8.00.) It is a work of melodic beauty and emotional sympathy with the Mother at the Crucifixion, composed originally for soprano and contralto and many times arranged for choral performance.

The fresh young voices of the Santa Catalina girls gave a surprisingly good rendering with dignity and reverence under the director and conductor, Margaret Farlinger. Voices that stood out in parts were those of Katherine Hoffman, Leane Marsh, Mardi Cox, Sally Rorick, Diane Ditz, Christine Lowe and Peggie Hawkins. All dressed in the same style white dresses, they made an impressive entry and exit from the huge hall with its hanging moon lights reflected in the dark outside. It was a credit to the handling by the director and to the school which the audience appreciated in their applause.

On Good Friday evening another inspiring and appropriate work of distinction will be given at All Saints' Episcopal Church, sung by a number of choirs from different churches. This will be Faure's modern Requiem augmented with Robert Forbes, organist, and members of the Monterey County Symphony, the whole conducted by John Gosling.

It is good to know that our unique Peninsula artist, Daniel Llords has returned home to Cannery Row after most successful concerts in Canada with prominent orchestras—even as far north as Churchill in Manitoba. In Victoria, British Columbia, the world premiere of Concerto for Puppets and Orchestra, a work for full orchestra which Llords commissioned from Roger Peter Dennis, was filmed for Trans-Canada Television News. Another sold-out concert tour begins next October 3, so the home sojourn of Llords and his manager, Jones, will be limited and filled largely with creating new "puppets-for-people-who-don't-like-puppets," as Llords expressed

DEL MONTE DOG SHOW SET FOR MAY 27

Seventeen judges coming from nine states, the Virgin Islands and two foreign countries, will attend the Del Monte Kennel Club's 37th

The event will be held on the lawn at Del Monte Lodge, Pebble Beach. Premium lists may be obtained by prospective entrants from the club superintendent, Bernice Behrendt, 470 38th Avenue, San Francisco 21. Secretary of the club is Mrs. Esther Williams of Carmel. it! And among preparation of other compositions will be a revival of Stravinsky's Firebird for the composer's eightieth birthday in June.

Meantime, Llords says, "the welcome mat is dusted off; the paint is dry; the flags are flying; and the hospitality sing is lighted," to welcome visitors who like to inspect puppet creation any afternoon between 3:00 and 5:00 o'clock.

A Raisin In The Sun, Next Circle Theatre Play, Opens April 27

A Raisin in the Sun, Lorraine Hansberry's powerful drama about a Negro family on Chicago's South Side, opens April 27 at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre.

Under the direction of Nick Zanides, a cast made up entirely of local actors has spent 10 weeks in preparation for the opening, which follows the final performances this week end of The Pleasure of His Company.

Author Hansberry captured the New York Critics' Circle Award for this, her first play, following its appearance on Broadway in March, 1959. Critics cited her ability to write with great understanding and humor about the problems of her race without indulging in either self-pity or melodramatics. A much admired movie version of the play starred Sidney Poitier, who had previously created the leading role on the stage.

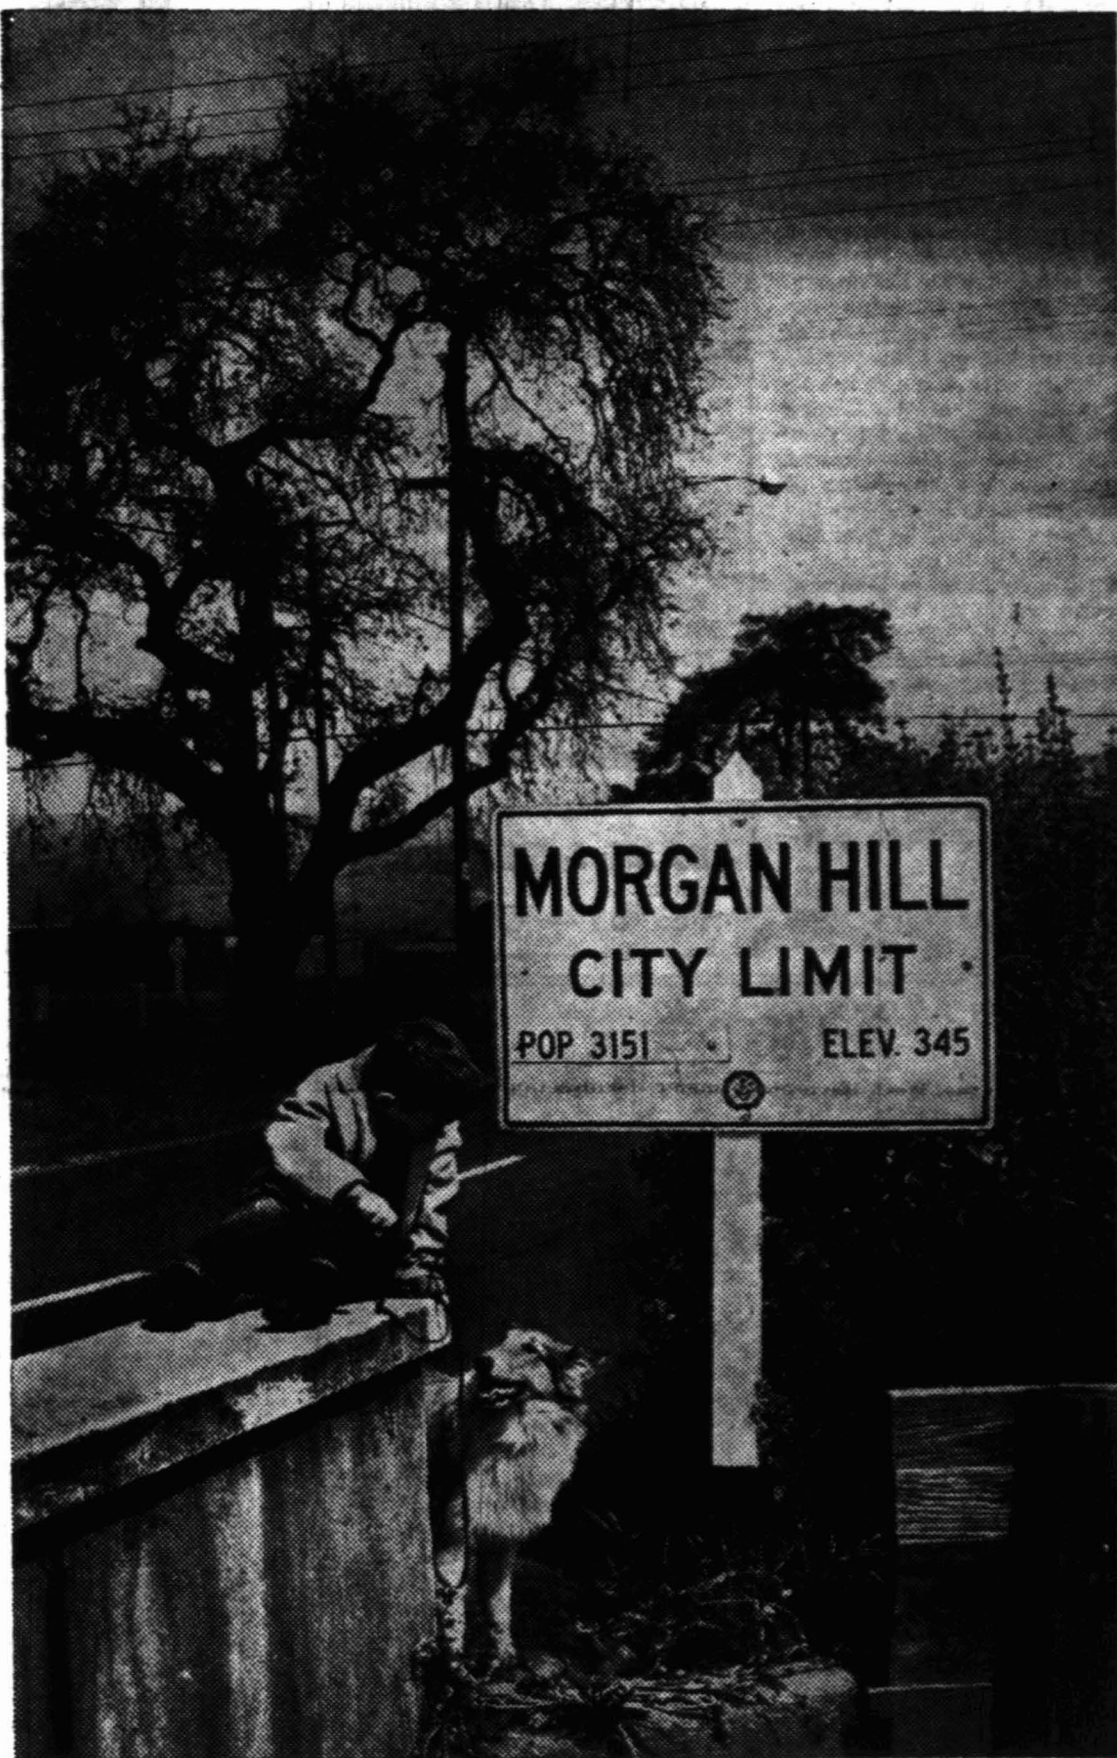

Racial conflict plays a secondary role in this mature and moving drama, the principal subject being the struggle of a young father to assume the responsibilities that are his as head of a turbulent and op-

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

Last week was National Library Week, and the Harrison Memorial Library joined with other libraries in this area in a luncheon on Saturday at Asilomar where local authors were featured and their books displayed. This year it was the children's librarians who organized the affair and the authors honored were those with children's books to their credit.

National Library Week was a time for publicity and encouragement of the public to read more, to read library books, and make use of the services the local library has to offer. In building a library collection, most libraries have a twin purpose, to stock the good popular books in both fiction and non-fiction, while at the same time enlarging the core collection of standard works in all fields pertinent to the locality. This core collection is the part of the library that will live and sustain it over the years. The loaning of books and periodicals and the answering of reference questions have been the main functions of libraries over the years, and they still are.

We also have films to loan and a projector you may borrow for showing them. We have The Pine Cone on film and a reader to use for viewing it. We have a picture file and a local history file. We serve all ages of patrons and try to keep them from tangling when the small space of the library puts people of divergent ages too close together for comfort. Life is never dull.

We have 28 new books this week, the non-fiction spaced over most of the popular areas. There is a book on Money Management, another on Conscience in Politics, a third in Plant Marvels in Miniature, an interesting book on the San Francisco Opera, 1923-61, and still another on Prize Winning Oil Paintings.

This past week an outstanding older book, about two years older, has been entrancing this librarian, and in case you missed it, let this be a warning to you. The book in question is To Kill a Mocking Bird by Harper Lee. This is a Pulitzer Prize novel which has been on the much-read list for months, not that that is always a criterion, but this one is a reading delight. Some of us were lucky enough to have spent our early years in a small town where there is nothing to be afraid of, where everyone knew everyone else, where little children went barefoot in the summer time, and mothers stayed at home and raised their children themselves.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be heard in Christian Science church services Sunday.

This statement of the Master's will be included in the Bible readings (John 10): "I and my Father are one . . . If I do not the works of my Father, believe me not. But if I do, though ye believe not me, believe the works: that ye may know, and believe, that the Father is in me, and I in him."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this selection will be read: "Atonement is the exemplification of man's unity with God, whereby man reflects divine Truth, Life, and Love. Jesus of Nazareth taught and demonstrated man's oneness with the Father, and for this we owe him endless homage. His mission was both individual and collective. He did life's work aright not only in justice to himself, but in mercy to mortals, — to show them how to do theirs, but not to do it for them nor to relieve them of a single responsibility." (p. 18).

Francisco industrial designer and former regional executive of the Sports Car Club of America; Jack L. Bradley, Santa Ana, electronics executive, who has had a long time interest in sports cars; Robert A. Day, Los Angeles, well known Concours judge, who owns a large collection of both vintage and modern cars.

In addition, judges will be Denholm D. McKie, San Francisco Sports Car Club of America member and a Concours judge of long experience; Donald Teague of Carmel, noted artist with a long interest in automobiles; Hermann A. Richardson, prominent San Francisco industrial designer; Peter A. B. Bancroft, San Francisco, Rolls Royce authority; Jennison Heaton, Pebble Beach, former Olympic bobsled champion who was a race car driver in Europe; Strother MacMinn, well known Los Angeles Concours judge; Frank E. O'Neal of Carmel Valley, cartoonist, who has been a sports car owner for many years; Frank Mason, Long Beach, winner this year of the Strother MacMinn Perpetual Concours d'Elegance trophy awarded for his outstanding contribution to the sport.

Last year's overall winner, Scott Newhall, San Francisco newspaperman, will judge this year. His winning Packard will be on display only.

Martyn Martin's $50,000 Rolls Royce Phantom V, which took second grand prize last year, will be in competition again. It is the most expensive car ever to have been seen on the Pacific Coast, having been designed by Osmond Francis Rivers, former chief designer of the celebrated house of Hooper and architect of the various Rolls Royces used by the British royal family. The two-tone black and sand body itself was fabricated by the Paris firm of Henri Chapron, last of the great carriage builders. Special appointments include air conditioning designed by Mrs. Martin, an air-conditioned humidor for Mr. Martin's cigars, three-length radio reception controlled from each seat, special lock compartments for binoculars and another for umbrella and parasol. The working bar is furnished with the finest sterling silver and crystal.

William Harrah of Reno will bring two of his famous collection for the first time, a 1909 Welch constructed entirely of wood, and a 1930 Packard Model 734 Speedster Runabout.

The Classic Car Club of Southern California is making a tour to see the Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance, and many of their group have entered cars in the show.

Alton Walker of Pebble Beach, one of the country's well known collectors, has entered three especially fine cars, among them the 1913 Rolls Royce touring car in which the Prince of Wales (now the Duke of Windsor) made his tour of America in 1919. Walker has just completed restoration of the car. His other entries are a

DONER TO MODERATE MPC PANEL

Five local men, each representing a different area of the arts, will join painter Ephraim Doner in the last of his lectures on art at Monterey Peninsula College Monday evening.

Sitting on an informal panel will be John Gamble, architectural designer; Eric Barker, poet; Jack Benson, musicologist; Joseph Fay, painter, and Gordon Newell, sculptor.

Commencing at 8:00 o'clock in the MPC library lecture hall, the group will discuss, according to Doner, "the multiple nature of our culture as applied to all liberal arts."

Acting as moderator, Doner will "not interrupt anyone who is saying anything interesting," he says. Admission to the session will be 50 cents, collected at the door.

Doner will be followed in the Arts, Sciences and Humanities series by microbiologist Cornelius B. Van Niel in May.

Cannery Row Characters Emerge To Make Wharf Theatre's Current Musical, Pipe Dream, The Best Ever

In the annals of Peninsula theater production, Pipe Dream will surely emerge as one of the best musicals ever presented here.

And well it should. It has a running start on other shows by having a setting as indigenous to this area as Monterey cypress, with the real Cannery Row only yards away from the Wharf Theatre stage in Monterey where Pipe Dream opened Monday night as a benefit performance for the Community Hospital.

That the story of the widely assorted life-forms inhabiting Cannery Row in the halcyon days was romanticized by its processing through the hands of John Steinbeck and subsequently Rodgers and Hammerstein troubles no one, least of all the home town audience, many of whom will remember the real-life members of Cannery Row society as it was once.

A talented set of four actors lifted Pipe Dream, adapted from the Steinbeck novel, Sweet Thursday, to the realm of excellence: Holt Wood as Doc, Donna Ricca as Suzy, Maggi Woodward as Fauna and Dick Vreeland as Hazel.

Produced by Fred Forsman and Sam Karas and directed by Cole Weston, the production retained this quality of excellence in the performances of Nancy Jensen as Millicent, Roger Gray as Mac, Fred Forsman as Jim, Roger Eddy as Johnny, Mike Weber as Pedro, Jim Watson as Ray Bush, Elroy Naczek as George Herman, Niniv K. Ibrahim as Bill, Hank Robb as Red, Thornton Harby as Eddie, Roy Riley as Alec, Tomoko Sheerin as Sumi, Joe Joseph as Joe, Phil Stock as Jake Stock, Alicia Lovett as Agnes, LaVerne Seeman as Mabel, Sue Rabie as Emma, Gwenn Ring as Beulah, Anne Nelson as Marjorie, Sam Karas as Sonny Boy, B. Gabriel as Esteban and Ted Weston as Doctor Dormody.

Forest Durland was musical director, Dale Lefler was choreographer. Sets were designed by Carmel Valley artist Marlinde Von Ruhs assisted by Thornton Harby, and a superb job they did, too. The Palace Flophouse is right there in its joyful state of gaudy deterioration, Doc's laboratory, Fauna's "happiest house on the block," and the rest.

Even the songs, mostly all familiar from the Broadway production of Pipe Dream, echoed with a certain heightened gaiety here on home ground, and the local cast lacked nothing in vocal ability.

Pipe Dream will play the rest of this week and succeeding weekends, with the Wharf curtain going up at 8:30 o'clock. —R. P.

MRS. ROOSEVELT SPEAKS AT MPC APRIL 25

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will arrive on the Peninsula April 25 to keep a speaking engagement at Monterey Peninsula College.

She will address an Armory audience at 8:00 o'clock that evening on The Change in the U. S. Picture Over 50 Years. The public is invited to attend without charge.

It will be Eleanor Roosevelt's second appearance as an evening lecture series speaker at MPC. When she spoke in January, 1960,

Jaime Laredo Plays Here Tuesday Night For Music Society

Tuesday evening the Carmel Music Society will present Jaime Laredo, 18-year-old violinist, in a concert at 8:30 o'clock in Sunset School Auditorium.

Two years ago he won the Queen Elisabeth of Belgium international music competition which carries with it a $3,000 cash award. The judges were Oistrakh, Menuhin, Francescatti, Szigeti, Galamian and Grumiaux, "the world's toughest violin jury," according to Time magazine.

Jaime Laredo was born in Bolivia and before he was five years old had learned the rudiments of music. He received his first violin as a Christmas present and began his first studies of the instrument when he was six.

In 1948, he came to San Francisco to study with Antonio de Grassi and Frank Houser, then went to Cleveland, Ohio, to work under Josef Gingold who suggested further study at the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia under Ivan Galamian. He graduated from Curtis, in absentia, while abroad competing for the Queen Elisabeth award.

He has appeared as soloist with the San Francisco, Spokane, and Akron symphonies, and made a concert tour of Peru, Bolivia and Puerto Rico.

several hundred people failed to find seating, but were able to hear her over public address systems elsewhere on the campus; others left, discouraged. This year, the overflow will be accommodated in the library lecture hall.

May 15 Deadline Set For Bach Festival Ticket Renewals

The Bach Festival's 1962 prospectus, giving the schedule and dates for this summer's 25th anniversary season, was mailed this week.

This year's festival will again encompass 10 days, and will include identical weekend programs as well as the special concert at the Carmel Mission Basilica. Season tickets will provide admission to five week-night concerts and one Sunday, thus enabling subscribers to choose either the Friday through Thursday series or the Monday through Sunday series. Tickets for the Basilica concert are not included in the season series and must be purchased separately.

However, because of the limited seating at the Basilica (only 400 seats), tickets for this performance are expected to again be at a premium as they were last year.

In addition to Bach's Passion According to St. Matthew and the Jephtha oratorio of both Handel and Carissimi, the program will include all six of the Brandenburg concerti, an ample representation of Bach's shorter pieces as well as the compositions of Mozart, Albinoni, Byrd, Schuetz and Monteverdi.

Season ticket holders are requested to renew their subscriptions on or before May 15, after that date applications will be filled in the order received. Season subscribers will also be given ticket preference for the Mission concert only until the May 15 deadline. After this time allocations will be made as received. Reservations for single tickets are now also being accepted.

Until June 1, all ticket orders will be handled by mail or phone only. Applications may be made by writing Carmel Bach Festival, Box 503, Carmel, or by phoning MAY-fair 4-1521.

Olive Burr

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon for Mrs. Olive Burr, 89, of Carmel, who died last Friday afternoon in a Salinas hospital.

Mrs. Burr was a native of DuQuoin, Illinois, where she was born on October 26, 1872. She had been a resident of Carmel for about 16 years, making her home at Monte Verde Street and Eighth Avenue.

A former resident of St. Louis, Missouri, she had been active there in the Golden Link Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, and the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary.

Her husband, William Burr, and a son, Aaron, preceded her in death. Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. C. W. Wentworth

Cast Replacement In Studio Theatre's Current Production

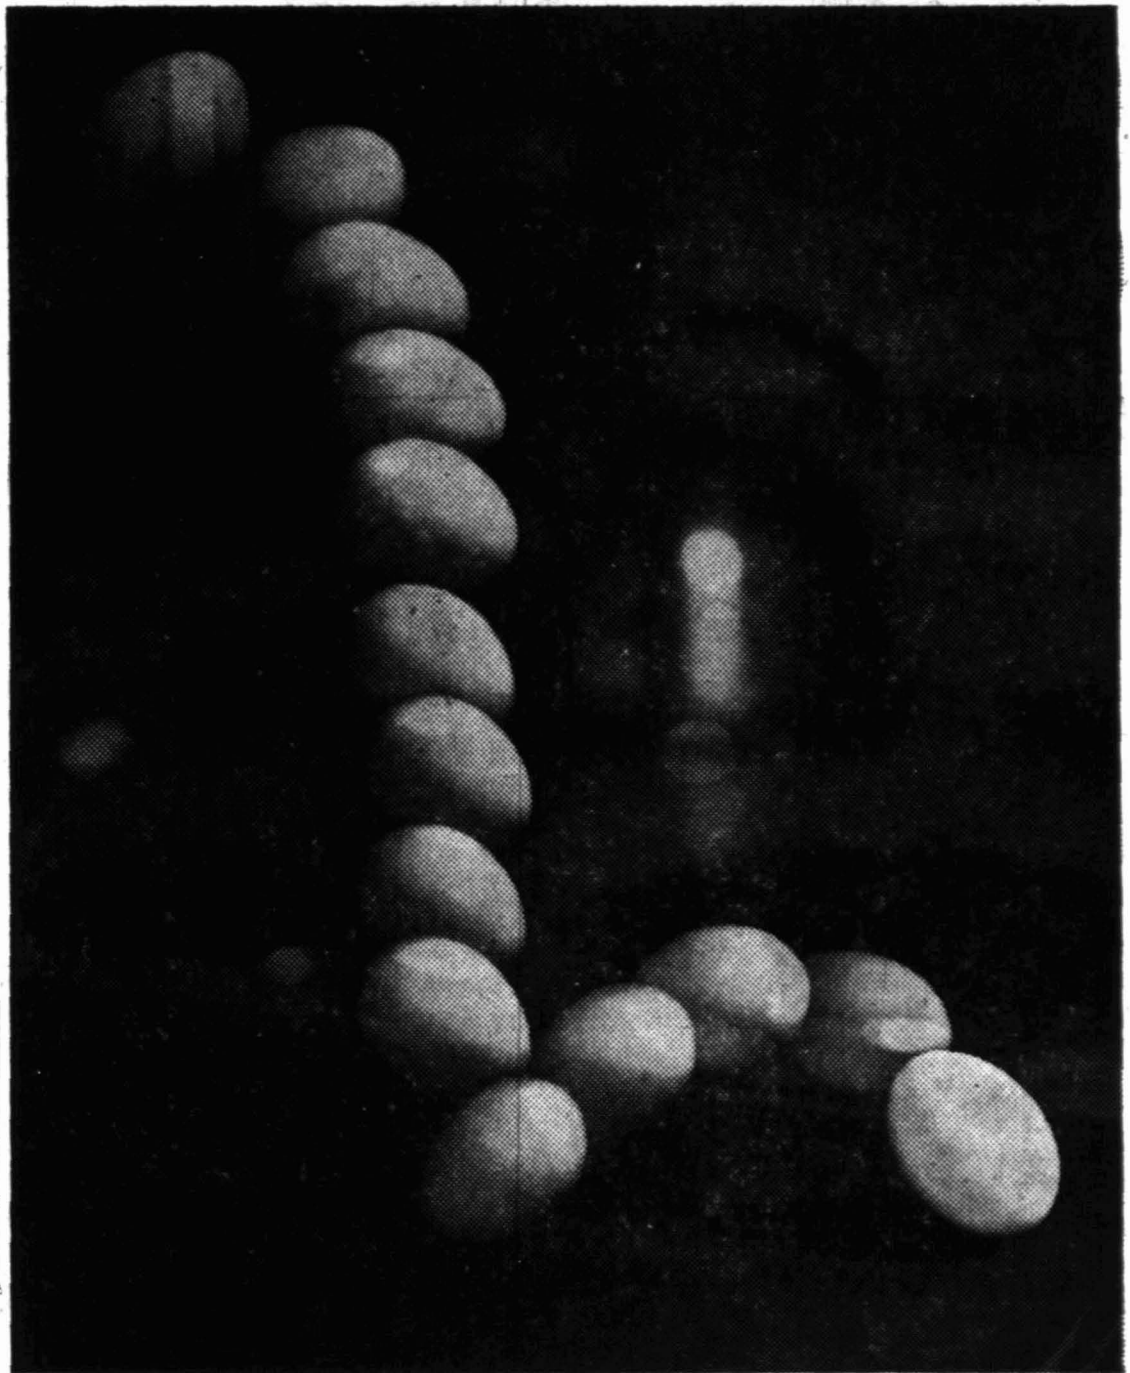

Friday evening and for the rest of the run, the part of Lady Hayling, snobbish English aristocrat in Noel Coward's comedy Relative Values at the Studio Theatre, will be played by Marjorie Hirshkind. She replaces Muriel Hamilton who, unexpectedly, had to leave for England.

Marjorie Hirshkind is a student of the Don Ross actors workshop and will be remembered for her fine work in Sean O'Casey's Pictures in the Hallway at the Circle Theatre.

Relative Values plays Thursday and Sunday nights this week in addition to Friday and Saturday performances.

of Carmel, and Mrs. A. Ludwig of St. Louis; a son, William Burr of Arkansas; a sister, Mrs. A. J. Hermes of Pueblo, Colorado; five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Dr. K. Fillmore Gray, of the Church of the Wayfarer in Carmel, officiated at the Tuesday rites held in the Paul Mortuary Chapel. Inurnment will take place at a later date at the Columbarium in Monterey.

Sometimes it pays to be hardboiled

There are certain things you don't want to take chances with. Your savings, for instance. You want to know they're safe. That when you go to get them, they'll be there—the full amount, with interest. And you want to know that—no matter what—someone's being pretty hardboiled about protecting them. Like a bank.

Neumann-Brickey Wedding

A double-ring ceremony at St. John's Presbyterian Church in Los Angeles Sunday united a Carmel man, Peter Colin Brickey, and Nancy Susan Neumann of Los Angeles.

Nancy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Neumann of Los Angeles and a 1961 graduate of Mills College, wore for her wedding a gown she had designed and made herself of embroidered Swiss pique, with boat neck and elbow-length sleeves.

The floor-length skirt was designed with a plain front panel and box pleats, and the bride added a bouffant veil and carried a bouquet of stephanotis, gardenias and sweet peas.

She was attended by her sister, Maxine, (Mrs. Arthur Delgallo), who served as matron of honor, with bridesmaids Linda Velpoux of Los Angeles and Sharon Callahan of Seattle.

Flower girl was Nancy's young second cousin, Merien Snow of En-cino. All the bridal attendants wore short frocks of apricot linen and carried nosegays of sweet peas, blue and yellow iris, and daisies.

Peter, son of Mrs. Jean McCreary Brickey of Carmel and Edward M. Brickey of Los Angeles, had asked his friend Eugene Gawain of San Francisco to serve as best man. Ushers were William D. Powell and Don Rowe, both of Carmel, John Toby Sampson, formerly of Carmel and now of Los Angeles, and Robert Martin of Los Angeles.

Officiating at the mid-afternoon wedding was the Reverend Richard Irons. Her father gave Nancy in marriage.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Neumann wore an aquamarine sheath dress of chiffon and French lace with matching hat and shoes, a single strand of pearls, and long white gloves.

The mother of the bridegroom appeared in a silk sheath dress of antique white with high neckline and short sleeves. Completing her ensemble were elbow-length gloves of antique white, matching shoes and an apricot flowered hat.

Among the many friends and family members who gathered for the occasion was the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Irene Gairdner of Los Angeles.

Nancy, who majored in art at Mills and met her future husband while he was a student of San Francisco State College, and Peter left immediately after the ceremony for Carmel, and have been spending their Easter vacation here at the Brickey home while Mrs. Jean Brickey, Carmel interior decorator, is vacationing out of town.

The newlyweds will make their home in San Francisco, where Peter, who graduated from SFSC in January of this year, continues graduate work there in physics along with work at Hunter's Point Radiological Laboratory in San Francisco. Peter grew up in Carmel, and graduated from Carmel High School.

Plans Trip to England

Ronald Redding of Carmel will leave tomorrow for London for a visit of several weeks with four sisters who, like Ronny, are hair-stylists.

Mr. Redding, who is known professionally as Ronny, of Armand's Beauty Salon in Carmel, will also visit Paris where he formerly lived and worked. Though he visited England, his birthplace, about four years ago, this will mark the first chance he's had to renew his acquaintances in France since before World War II, he says.

Sandies at Tahoe

Among Easter week vacationers are Mr. and Mrs. Don Sands of Carmel who with their daughter, Susie, and a school friend of hers, left last Saturday morning for Tahoe Valley with plans to return today.

The Sandies are celebrating their silver (25th) wedding anniversary, the girls a week of freedom from school.

Mrs. Gaylord LVW Head

A Carmelite, Mrs. A. S. Gaylord whose home is at Carpenter and Valley Way, was elected president of the Monterey Peninsula League of Women Voters last Thursday, her term to begin on June 1.

She succeeds Mrs. John Brock of Pebble Beach, who is the new vice president of the organization. Mrs. Gaylord says that as an election year president of the league, she looks forward to much voter service on the part of her organization.

Two public meetings, both at 8:00 o'clock on the evenings of May 14 and May 21 in the USO, Monterey, have been planned by the LVW to air views of candidates for state and national offices and contested county offices respectively.

The league will also continue a long-standing study of county government this year, giving it a new approach, Mrs. Gaylord said.

French Cultural Attache To Visit

Michel Sciamia, French cultural attache, will visit the Monterey Peninsula over the week end of April 27-28 at the invitation of L'Alliance Francaise de la Peninsule de Monterey. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Sciamia and will address the French speaking organization the evening of April 27 at 8:00 o'clock. The lecture will be given at the Carmel Art Association and will deal with new trends in the French novel. Following the talk there will be a social hour. Refreshments will be served by a committee of hostesses headed jointly by Mrs. Claude Coureol of Pebble Beach and Mrs. Raymond Surdez of Pacific Grove.

The meeting is open, free of charge, to anyone who understands French.

A dinner honoring the distinguished visitors will be given on April 28 in Carmel. The number of guests is very limited. Those wishing to attend should telephone the Alliance's secretary, Mrs. David C. Pittfield, at MA 4-8936 for information and reservations.

Foreign School Advisor Here

Miss Elizabeth V. Zierer of Oakland visited Carmel last week. She supervises a unique program of language study and travel. Each summer she chaperones West Coast teenage boys and girls who go to Europe in order to learn French in Swiss schools, also advises parents on European schools in which their children can enroll at any time a family is abroad.

Presbyterian Women To Meet

The Women's Association of the Carmel Presbyterian Church will hold a monthly meeting on Thursday, April 26, in Fellowship Hall, beginning at 11:30 o'clock in the morning with a meeting of the Spiritual Life group.

Luncheon will follow at noon, served by the Warren Wilson Circle. (Reservations are necessary.) The business session will be held at 1:00 o'clock in the afternoon, followed by the devotional and program.

Guest speaker will be the Reverend Joseph M. Ewing on the topic, A Post-Easter Message. A baby-sitting service will be available at the church.

WHAT'S DOING

D. D. Muir, your Telephone Manager in Carmel

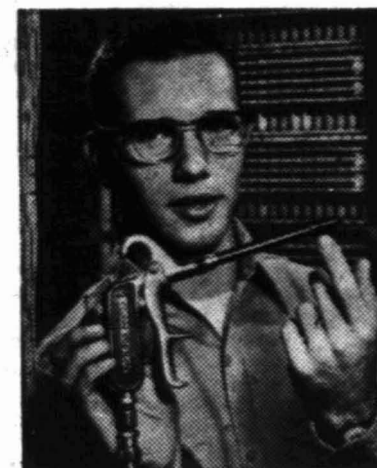

America's first space-age world's fair opens this month in Seattle, Washington. Its theme is Century 21, an exciting look at the year 2000 against a background of our present space accomplishments.

Tying in with this theme at the fair is the Bell Telephone System's "Space Communications Spectacular." It shows many Bell System space projects, including the proposed satellite communications system. It also features up-to-the-minute developments in home and business telephones.

If you plan to visit Seattle's Century 21 Exposition, we hope you'll stop in at the Bell System's exhibit building for a very interesting look at what's new for you in telephone service.

Good housekeeping is just as important to telephone people as it is to the tidest housewife. Perhaps even more so. And this air pistol is one way we attack our house-cleaning job.

You see, even tiny specks of dust in telephone equipment could interfere with good service. By using compressed air to blow dust away, we're able to do a really thorough job fast and cut cleaning costs. By practicing economy with good housekeeping, we can maintain good service and give you the most for your telephone dollar.

"Money at work means men at work" is the slogan of Invest-in-America Week, April 29 to May 5. Now investing in America may seem like a big order. But actually it's a matter of looking at it the way the Invest-in-America Council does. They say: "Thanks to the money you put into savings accounts, insurance policies, a home, bonds and stocks, your savings are working to expand industry, make new jobs, and help you enjoy the better things of life."

Heather Hamilton Is Married

Mrs. Jean O'Brien Geisen arrived home last week from New York with the news that her daughter, Heather Ann Hamilton, and Jonathan Kuff Persoff were married April 5 at the Hampshire House with only a few close friends in attendance.

Heather's father is Fred P. Hamilton, Jr., of Beverly Hills, and her sister is Mrs. William Robert Haire of Long Beach. Donel Geisen of Carmel is her brother, and she is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Howard Vincent O'Brien of Chicago.

Jonathan is the son of Mrs. Albert Persoff of Beverly Hills, and the late Mr. Persoff. Richard Persoff of San Francisco is his brother.

Heather graduated from Carmel High School and has studied at the New York School of Interior Design, the University of Geneva and the Sorbonne. At present she is engaged in the field of interior design in New York.

Her husband is a graduate of Pomona College and is associated with an advertising agency in New York.

Second Granddaughter

Mrs. A. Carol McKenney of Pebble Beach went the early part of this week to Greenbrae to become acquainted with her new granddaughter, Linden, second child of Mr. and Mrs. George Hynes, Jr., nee Gray Burnham.

Traveling north with her grandmother after a visit here was Ragan Hynes, 2½-year-old sister of Linden, who was born on April 8 in San Francisco.

Jameses Here Briefly

Mrs. D. L. James of Carmel Highlands has had as her guests this week her son, Daniel, his wife, Lilith and their younger daughter, Kathy, all from Los Angeles.

The visitors left this morning to visit the Jameses' older daughter, Barbara, her husband, Dan Willard, and their two small granddaughters, who all live near Sacramento.

Civics Students' Discussion

A group of Carmel High School civics students met last Thursday evening with their teacher, Peter Lyon, for an experimental session in which they discussed the Far East and current affairs, and saw a movie on Red China.

The discussion, held at the home of Colonel and Mrs. Everett Bibb in Carmel, was so successful the group decided to do it again soon, choosing another topic. The movie and study session was followed by a social hour, with participants bringing along the refreshments.

Those attending, most of them Carmel High School seniors, included in addition to Mr. Lyon, Dianne Caldwell, Nancy Bibb, Ken Barrette, Jane Skillman, Margie Goulding, Bruce McCreery, Steve Shore, Donna Seaver, Steve Fairfield, Lynden Mahrt, Barry Sherman, Carlton Macy, Toni Cox, Kathy Crawford, Peter Benjamin, Alison Miller, Leslie Chafne, Ginger Laky, Elaine Kachavos, Judy Kinion, Pat Quyle, Karin Norberg, Jan Twomey, and Judy Kratky.

Mrs. McElroy at Fry Home

Visiting her daughter, Mrs. Anne McElroy Fry, is Mrs. Ruth Marion McElroy, former Carmelite nun of Los Angeles, who plans to spend several weeks at the lively Fry home on San Antonio Street and Eighth Avenue.

The house is particularly lively this week, of course, because of school vacationers Ruthie, 15; Lucinda, 13; Roberta, 11; and Noel, 8, granddaughters of the visitor.

Mrs. McElroy, well known stage and television actress, visited Carmel briefly in February, but spent much of last summer on the Peninsula while appearing in Wharf Theater productions.

Writer Anais Nin Returns

Former Carmelite, Anais Nin, (Mrs. Rupert Pole), who now makes her home in Los Angeles, last week returned from a flying trip to Paris, where she conferred with Jean Gabriel Albicocco, Venetian prize winner for his first film, Girl With the Golden Eyes by Balzac. He is at present preparing a scenario of her novel, Spy in the House of Love, which will star Tracey Roberts of Hollywood.

This week Miss Nin has received copies of the English edition of her biography of D. H. Lawrence, published by Neville Spearman, Ltd. At the same time there has been a resurgence of interest in her writing and Alan Swallow will reprint in uniform edition five of her novels, Seduction of the Minotaur, Winter of Artifice, House of Incest, and Cities of the Interior, as well as her collection of short stories entitled Under a Glass Bell.

Miss Nin's works have been praised by Henry Miller, Lawrence Durrell and William Carlos Williams. Edmund Wilson in a review stated: "The imagery does convey something and is always appropriate. The spun glass is also alive: it is the abode of a secret creature."

Moving Day—For Squirrels

Harriet Meyer, who is back on the Peninsula after living and working in Hawaii, says there came a moment on an afternoon early this week when she knew beyond question that she was back in an unchanged Carmel and that spring is here.

Harriet, a former Welcome Wagon hostess for the Peninsula, says she went to investigate the reason for some excited barking from her dog in the back yard of her home near Santa Fe and Fourth, and found a family of Carmel squirrels in process of moving from one home to another.

"Three times this darling mother squirrel came out of the old nest, each time carrying a baby, crossed our roof and went through the tops of six trees to get to the new nest," Harriet reports. "And the final jump was so precarious it would have made Johnny Weissmuller blanch."

Then, Harriet said, the mother made a fourth trip and on that one brought along the mattress or rug or whatever the proper word is for the puff of furry fluff the squirrels had in the bottom of the old nest and transferred to the new.

Harriet did an excellent job of reporting all this, probably because she is so recently returned from another reporting job, with the Kona Torch, which is published every Thursday on the Island of Hawaii by another former Carmelite, John Lenk. The latter is best remembered here for his work with the Great Books program and for his popularity as pianist at a Peninsula theater. He is now owner and publisher of The Torch.

Music at Nepenthe

Margaret and Ray Fabrizio will perform a concert for harpsichord and flute on Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock at Nepenthe on the Coast Highway.

On the program, which marks the second event in the fourth annual Nepenthe summer chamber music concert series, will be Handel's Suite in D minor for harpsichord, Bach's Sonata 4 in C major and one in B minor, and pieces by Rameau.

General To Retire Here

Following his retirement this month as commanding general of the XV U. S. Army Corps at the Presidio of San Francisco, Major General W. N. Gillmore and Mrs. Gillmore of San Francisco will make their home in Carmel.

The general, a native of Monterey, is completing 36 years' active duty. Among his many assignments since graduating from the U. S. Military Academy in 1925, have been command of the artillery of the 101st Airborne Division (The Screaming Eagles), first artillery command of the 11th Armored Division during World War II, and command of the First Armored Division Artillery at Anzio Beachhead in May, 1944.

He has also headed commands and missions in Japan, Korea, Thailand, and Greece, and holds the Distinguished Service Medal, the Bronze Star, and the Legion of Merit.

Mrs. Gillmore, the first American woman to serve on the United Nations Committee of Thailand, has a distinguished record in volunteer service, and holds the Greek Gold Cross for Red Cross work in Greece and Turkey. She was instrumental in starting Red Cross service in Crete.

The general's retirement review will be held on the main parade ground of the Presidio of San Francisco on April 29, with his retirement effective April 30.

Lieutenant Rich Reassigned

First Lieutenant William H. Rich, whose father, William H. Rich, Sr., lives in Carmel Valley, has been reassigned to Tinker Air Force Base in Oklahoma from Maxwell Air Force Base in Alabama, according to a news release from the Alabama base.

The Air Force officer, who attended Carmel High School and entered the service in January, 1956, was assigned to Oklahoma following graduation from the United States Air Force Squadron Officer School on April 13. His wife is the former Bonnie Buerge of Albany, Oregon.

White Engagement

At a cocktail buffet in the Burlingame Country Club on April 10, the engagement of Suzanne Daphne Crocker and Anthony Russell White was announced by Mrs. Norton Adams, mother of the bride-elect.

Arrangements of spring flowers decorated the club, which is the former Crocker home, New Place, residence of Suzanne's grandparents, the late William H. Crockers. She is the daughter of the late Dr. Charles Crocker of Pebble Beach and Mrs. Adams, whose own wedding to Mr. Adams, a Wall Street investment broker, took place in Southampton, Long Island, on April 7.

Anthony is the son of Mrs. Richard McIntyre White and the late Mr. White of Carmel. He is a graduate of Carmel High School.

Suzanne, now a student at San Francisco College for Women, graduated from Chatham Hall in Virginia and Bennett College in New York. She made her debut in 1959 at the Burlingame Club, and bowed at the Debutante Cotillion that year in San Francisco.

Her brother is Charles Crocker, Jr., medical student at Columbia University in New York City, and her sister is Mrs. Earle Maury Elrick of Caracas, Venezuela. She is the niece of William W. Crocker, Mrs. Henry Potter Russell, and Mrs. Andre de Limur.

Anthony, a Stanford University graduate in June, 1961, is an officer candidate in the Naval Reserve, who will receive officer's training in Newport, Rhode Island, and at the Naval Supply School in Athens, Georgia, where he and Suzanne plan to live after their wedding in August.

Anthony's brothers are Richard McIntyre White, Jr., of New Orleans, and Philip White, a Stanford student.

'Sis' Reamer Elber Here

Back in Carmel to make her permanent residence is Mrs. Sara (Sis) Reamer Elber, who arrived Sunday with her family from San Francisco. After some difficulties with a moving van breaking down along the road and such, Sis says, they are established and in process of unpacking at the Reamer house on Carmel Point, home of Mrs. Elber's mother, Mrs. George Reamer.

Mrs. Elber, who was widowed last year, has been for the past six years executive secretary of the auxiliary of Mount Zion Hospital in San Francisco, but here she plans to pursue another interest of long standing—oceanography. She will enroll for study this fall, she says, but plans in this direction are not definite yet.

Sons Jonathan, 19, and Daniel, 18, are also in Carmel, but their mother says they will soon be off for trips, Dan, the surf-board rider of the Elber clan, planning to spend the summer in Hawaii.

In Carmel Junior High School next fall will be daughter Kit, 13, and her brother David, 12, the two younger Elbers.

Mrs. Stebbins On Trip

A visit to a grandchild she has never seen, renewal of old friendships and a number of brief stays with a host of other relatives here and in England will be on the itinerary of a six-month tour planned by Mrs. Margaret C. (Peggy) Stebbins of Carmel, who left today for Berkeley on the first leg of her journey.

In Berkeley she will visit with Mr. and Mrs. William Sims, then go to Los Angeles to see her son George. After that she will head for Delta, Colorado, for the meeting with grandson Daniel S. Stebbins, who was born last November to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stebbins. Both George and Robert are former Carmelites, the latter a Carmel High School graduate.

Eventually, Mrs. Stebbins said, she will be in England where she will stay with London friends and visit Scotland. An excursion to the Continent is also in her plans before her return to Carmel in mid-October.

Letters . . .

April 18, 1962.

Editor,
The Carmel Pine Cone:

One of my friends asked me to write to you about the dangerous conditions of the sidewalks on Dog Done Alley, formerly Dolores Street.

Residents are experienced and tread warily but we have many visitors in the village now. You may have noticed many of them scantily clad and some do not even have shoes and are not aware of the perils.

When is our gallant chief of police going to enforce the old village ordinance that requires all dogs coming to town to wear diapers?

Elmer Booth.

Citizens' Committee for the College Bond Election
April 16, 1962.

Editor,
The Carmel Pine Cone:

As one of the many whose joint efforts carried on the campaign for the Monterey Peninsula College Bond Issue, you know, of course, that the vote carried by 76.6 per cent — 10 per cent more than the two-thirds vote required.

I feel that this handsome victory was a tribute to the college and its place in the hearts of the Peninsula community. But it was also very much a response to the co-operation, unstinting efforts of people who, like yourself, contributed wholeheartedly to the campaign.

On behalf of the Citizens' Committee which the Board of Trustees called upon to carry on this campaign, I want to express warmest appreciation for all the help you gave. Whenever and wherever help was needed, it was there, and in abundance.

And clearly, without your assistance in interpreting the issues to the public, we could never have won such a resounding victory at the polls.

Sincerely,
Stan Greeb,
General Chairman,
Citizens' Committee for the College Bond Election.

Monterey Peninsula College
Faculty Association
P. O. Box 1231,
Monterey, California.

April 12, 1962.

Editor,
The Carmel Pine Cone:

Our special thanks go to you for your help in bringing to the community the facts about the Monterey Peninsula College bond election.

Speaking for the college faculty, may I express the conviction that your help made a significant difference not only in assuring a good turnout for the election, but also in carrying the bonds by such a handsome majority.

Sincerely,
Max Tadlock,
President.

Peter Sherman Kimball Born

The first grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Waldo Hicks and the first grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. Claude P. Kimball, Peter Sherman Kimball came straight from O'Connor Hospital in San Jose to Carmel on Tuesday with his mother, the former Ann Hicks, and his father Peter Kimball. He was born on April 13 with a birth weight of eight pounds, 14 and one-half ounces.

He and his mother will remain here with Mr. and Mrs. Hicks for about three weeks, then join Peter Sherman's father, who recently left San Jose to become associated with the Security National Bank in Los Angeles.

Besides his two sets of grandparents, the baby has an aunt and two uncles in Carmel. They are Kathleen Kimball, Claude P. Kimball, Jr., and John Hicks. He also has a great-grandmother, Mrs. Eleanor Kimball who at present is on a world cruise.

Highlands Sounds Co-Op Apartment Battle Alert

Lined up last night were the following reasons for protesting the co-operative apartments: from Richard Swan, danger to highway traffic from limited access to apartment development site, possible destruction of marine life from sewage outfall, difficulty of fighting a possible fire on the precipitous site and the Highlands water system was inadequate for fire protection; from Gus Baumann, excavation of the site difficult because of limited access for bulldozers, excavated debris dumped beside Highway One would be a traffic hazard, and the only other solution was to dump it in the ocean; TV aerials on the apartment structure would be unsightly; the apartments would be directly in front of the scenic look-out below Highlands Inn.

Senator Fred Farr of Carmel, retained as attorney by property owners adjacent to the proposed development, suggested the co-operative nature of the project, with occupants of each apartment part-owners of the whole development, might be grounds for objection on a "club" basis. He cited that the previous denial of a motel on an adjacent lot because of access dangers might cause the California Division of Highways to consider objecting to the apartment project "at the most dangerous part of Highway One between here and San Luis Obispo."

Mr. McDaniel provided protesters with further ammunition by stating that the association's study group recommended the apartments be opposed on the following grounds: they were a safety hazard; against the Monterey County master plan for the coast highway; scenic beauty would be despoiled; lastly, that Highlands residents do all they can to prevent building now or in the future on the cliffside sites.

A volunteer telephone committee offered to telephone Highlands residents and ask them to join the militant bus riders in their fight Tuesday before the county

1-L zone.

Fred Godwin, owner of La Playa Hotel, appeared to speak in approval of the rezoning of his land from C-1 to C-1-L classification. Admiral C. W. Fisher, president of the Carmel Citizens Committee, spoke in favor of the rezoning of the other parcels from C-1-S (commercial, retail and service) zone to C-1-L. No one else spoke on the matter.

William Crawford has requested a use permit for the subdivision of his land into four sites. These would be respectively 22,000, 27,000 and 40,000 square feet and two acres in size.

None of these proposed sites, however, has access to a city street; also, they are not connected to the Carmel Sanitary District sewer system, although within the district. Mr. Crawford proposes cesspools or septic tank handling of sewage on the sites.

Commissioners were concerned about a proposed access road over Del Monte Properties Company land to the sites within the city limits in respect to provision of fire and police services.

Mr. Crawford told the commission that his share, $26,000 of an estimated $40,000 to provide sewers, was "expensive."

He also stated he had a permanent deed to his land from Del Monte Properties permitting access on their private road for six residences on his land.

Mrs. Crawford reported Carmel police in the past few years had used the road to control "undesirables" in the dune area, and the Red Cross ambulance also used the road when summoned to beach accidents. She saw no problem of access through the 17 Mile Drive gate.

Clayton Neill, Sr., pointed out that the lots were oversized, woody and on curving roads, all desirable conditions. He added that the soil was sandy and a residence on the land "never has been a sewage problem" although not connected to a sewer; also any sewage provisions must abide by the Carmel Sanitary District controls.

Mr. Crawford indicated that stagnate water in the beach area near his home came from drainage off the hillsides below the Del Monte Hill Gate.

Chairman Fred Keeble asked the commission's land use committee to prepare a report on the access situation for next week's regular meeting of the commission.

He also asked the same committee to prepare a report for next week on the Ferguson variance to allow a building site of 36,000 square feet, ten percent less than regulation lot size. Attorney Shelburn Robinson appeared for the owner and stated the house on the lot is it presently exists (36,000 square feet) had been occupied since 1920.

A "favorable" interim land use committee report on the request of Raymond Fisher for a division of property in the Eighty Acres was adopted and at the request of Richard Tourangeau, attorney for the owner, the matter was continued for a week.

"How is it that those refugees happened to be so calm, well groomed and well organized?" Booth was asked.

"Because," Elmer said, "those were the days before they had 'life adjustment' courses in schools."

Carmel Unified School District will be represented at the Claremont Graduate School conference on team teaching late this month by Charles W. Sciutto, vice principal of Carmel High School.

Opening session of the weekend conference in McKenna Auditorium on the Claremont (California) Men's College campus will be Friday, April 27.

Paul Woodring, editor of The Saturday Review Education Supplement, will address some 200 teachers and administrators from all parts of the state on the first day of the meeting, which will deal with team teaching methods at both elementary and secondary school levels.

Picknickers on the River Beach Sunday evening just after sunset were surprised to see a gray whale spout almost at the surf line before swimming out to sea. According to an article, Whaling at Point Lobos, in the April bulletin of the California Division of Beaches and Parks, gray whales can rest on two feet of water on shoal beaches during low tides, also swim in shallower places than any other whale. They are also prone to all manner of parasites and rub along sandy bottoms and scratch on rocks to free themselves of these pests. Their scientific name, Rachianectes, means gray rocky-shore swimmer. Their skin is very thin and their rock rubbing often produces large open sores.

The article also states, "The gray whale has very strange habits. The males appear to have strong possessive feelings about their females and young, and will attack almost anyone or anything bothering them."

Strange habits?

Carmel city hall will be closed tomorrow from noon until 3:00 o'clock.

Directors of the Carmel Sanitary District, at their April meeting last week discussed growth on the outskirts of Carmel in areas not served by the district's sewers.

These areas were the Crawford property in the sand dunes at the north end of Carmel Beach; lower Carmel Valley where the new junior high school is being built, and farther up the valley where two retirement homes, Hacienda Carmel, already under construction, and a second planned for the former Noel Sullivan property.

The discussion was merely a preliminary consideration of the fact that these areas may at a future date request annexation to the sanitary district.

On Island Junket

Mrs. Rosalind Sharpe Wall of Carmel will go by plane from San Francisco on April 28 to Honolulu on a painting trip of several weeks' duration.

While their mother is away, son Christopher and daughter Miranda will be visiting their father, Pat Wall, in Sausalito.

BUILDING BUG BITE YOU?

INDIVIDUALIST? LOOKING FOR PRIVACY? Let us show you these lots, then: If you like the pines, we have an acre as flat and easy to build on as you could want in the Carmel Highlands, and some ocean view in the bargain. Or if you prefer to watch the surf, ships and migrating whales, we can offer a full acre with wide open views to the restless Pacific, and a split-level house would be ideal for this site. You'll be amazed to hear that only $10,500 will buy either of these with only $3,500 down payment. Hats are off to our Mark Goldes for finding these unusual properties at this surprising price. Call him for more details.

IN CARMEL, just a few blocks from town, there's a nearly level lot with nice trees for only $10,000. We climbed up on a short ladder to check and think you'll have a fine view of Pt. Lobos from here.

NEAR PT. PINOS AND PT. JOE, with a spectacular sweep of ocean from every angle, an acre lot is available for $13,500.

COMPLETE WITH FABULOUS OAK TREES, we have what we consider the loveliest building site in Carmel Valley with the whole lovely panorama of rolling oak-covered mountains spread out before you. $10,400 is the reasonable price.

AND IF YOU HAVE A LOT TO SELL, list it with Lois. The reason? It's the season!

Carmel High School Honor Roll

Two students, Joella Leland and Stanley Smith, achieved A grades in seven subjects to win 14 points and head Carmel High School's Honor Roll for the third academic quarter. Also they were the only two students out of 201 on the honor roll to have a straight A average.

In second place with 13 points are Robert Cater, Jane Martin, Jeff McKenna and James Purvis. They attained A grades in six subjects, B in one.

Lolita Concepcion and Lois Watson with 12 points each are in third place. They also each take seven subjects.

Michelle Chase, Lana Holstein, Steve Johnson, Linda Lachmund, Norman Oleson, Linda Predmore, Jon Raggett, Clyn Smith and Larry Thompson, each with 11 points, are in fourth place. They study six subjects and had A grades in five, B in one.

An A grade counts for two honor roll points, a B grade one. D grades in any subject, except physical education.

daughter, Debora. Mayor Whittlesey was born in New York. He is a graduate of Williams College and Stanford Law School.

In this community he has served as president of the Lions Club and the Monterey County Symphony Association; also as vice president of the Carmel Business Association, president of the Community Chest, on the board of directors of the Carmel chapter of the American Red Cross, as president of the Musical Arts Club, a vestryman of All Saints' Episcopal Church and a director of Bishop Kip School.

He and his Seeing Eye dog, Rag-and are familiar to most of the city's residents.

County Planners To Consider Protective Pico Blanco Zoning

The possibility of establishing interim zoning to control quarrying on Pico Blanco will be considered by the county planning commission on Tuesday afternoon at 3:10 o'clock.

The matter was referred to the commission by the board of supervisors after the latter body received a petition, signed by 24 persons, requesting zoning to prevent the removal of limestone from the top of the mountain visible from the coast at Little Sur rivermouth.

Granite Rock Company of Watsonville has leased the mountaintop from Mr. and Mrs. Olaf P. Jenkins of Pacific Grove, owners of the summit.

Ed DeMars of the county planning commission staff stated yesterday that before any quarrying can take place on the mountain, a use permit must be obtained from the commission.

This permit would allow removal of materials, in this case limestone, but would not be issued if the commission decided quarrying would affect the health, safety and general welfare of surrounding property owners. One of these considerations could be that quarrying would create traffic problems or dust.

Accessory uses to the quarrying also would have to be considered. If the main use were granted without accessory uses, the operation might be blocked, he added.

Fire Destroyed S. F. In 1906, Not Earthquake, Yarn Swappers Agree

meeting ever since. The Monterey County group is the only other fire watch society in existence.

The senator added to his recital the story of how he had cared for 30 elderly ladies made homeless by the fire, "all of them with cats, dogs and parrots."

In addition to the ex-state senator and Dr. Houghton, those who acted as hosts for the luncheon were William J. Crabbe of Pacific Grove, Walter E. Anderson and Allen Knight of Carmel.

Retired motel owner Fred Workman of Pacific Grove got into the act with his story of how he had driven refugees out of the danger area by horse and wagon, meeting opera star Enrico Caruso in Union Square where the tenor offered him $100 to take him and his belongings out of the park. "No," Fred said, "I'm working for someone else." The Army commander deeded his wagon for emergency use, then Fred spent the rest of the time (about six weeks in all) doing rescue work for the Red Cross.

Judge Harold Jacoby of Carmel Highlands watched San Francisco burn for three days and three nights from Oakland, where he lived as a youngster. Though young, he was apparently acclimated to news of sudden disaster, having sold Oakland Tribunes on the day McKinley was assassinated. "The good thing about the earthquake," the judge recalled optimistically, "was that the schools closed for two months."

Mr. Crabbe said he had arrived at the age of 20 in San Francisco on the morning of April 16, 1906, to begin a long-awaited training session in hydro-electrical engineering, with an appointment to see a man named Phipps.

Mr. Phipps had a daughter, it turned out, with whom Bill Crabbe made a date for the next night and the night following. The first date was kept, the second was not.

Bill was in brief contact with the family later that year, then lost them again completely. "I've been looking for that girl ever since," Bill admitted. "Even though I've been happily married for 52 years, I'm still wondering what happened to her."

Claude Faw of Carmel was working as a private messenger for the Oakland Tribune on the morning of the quake, and next morning the Oakland shop published the San Francisco Call, Chronicle, and Examiner. Mr. Faw was one of those who agreed heartily that the earthquake did little damage except to frame buildings. In the downtown district, only the cornices fell. Things were hardly changed right after the quake. It was the fire that did the damage, and water was hard to get after the quake broke the mains.

Mrs. Elsie Goodwin of Monterey was living in Hamilton Square at the time, she said. She and her husband walked down Sutter Street right after the quake and found San Francisco "like a city of the dead." A friend of her family, Mrs. Goodwin said, tried to save her canary, her flat sterling silver and her sealskin coat. Fleeing the fire, she first abandoned the silver because it was too heavy, then the coat because it was too hot, but she kept the bird. And a few weeks later, after she had returned to her home which had not burned after all, a stranger came to her door and returned the coat, which he had seen her drop.

Mrs. J. M. Putnam of Monterey was in Sausalito watching the holocaust and gathered scraps of paper — prescription blanks, shipping tickets, pages from school textbooks and ledger sheets — which came floating across the water from the blazing city.

Allen Knight's home was in San Francisco at the time of the fire, although the former Carmel councilman himself was here on the Peninsula at the time of the disaster. He went home in time to cook in the streets and move his family valuables to the San Francisco Presidio for safe-keeping.

Elmer Booth of Carmel claimed the earthquake-fire was "one of the most wonderful things that ever happened. All the schools were closed and the students were getting jobs as chimney inspectors at $2.00 an hour."

"Did you know," Booth continued, "that at the time of the fire all the securities from the Crocker Bank were put on a barge and towed into the bay where they were left till after it was all over?"

"That's where we get the expression 'watered stocks,'" Senator Tickle added helpfully.

Dr. Anderson who at last year's watch brought down the house with his story of an uncle who was trapped for three days in a Murphy bed which sprang back into the wall when the quake came, this year added a trumpet player who rendered Jerusalem at quake time. He also recalled people sitting on boxes of dynamite smoking pipes and cigars.

Gus Rothe returned this year with his yarn of reading his own obituary in the Chico Record after he failed to get through to his family that he was alive and well after the temblor.

Mrs. Helen Small of Carmel was also one of the returnees, along with County Clerk Emmett McMenamin and many others.

But as usual, some of the best items were those exchanged around the tables during lunch.

Rothe, for instance, quoted a couplet credited to writer Ambrose Bierce, about the phenomenon of a liquor warehouse which was missed by the fire:

"If, as they say, God spanked the town for being over-frisky, 'Why did He tear the churches down and spare Hotelling's Whiskey?'"
